

HARDWOOD BOX SASH WINDOWS

Sliding sash windows, with boxes for the weights, pulleys and cords, and the original design details intact, are just about the most delightful and efficient means of ventilation ever made.

Thanks to twenty years of continuous research and development, the Original Box Sash Window Company has been able to meet the Government's new Building Regulations Part L for several years.

Traditional English timber sliding sash windows, which look just like the originals yet meet the new compulsory standards, that is what we supply and install. Each and every job, carried out by the Original Box Sash Window Company, qualifies for official registration.
